

SIMCHAT SHMUEL

BY RABBI SAM SHOR

Program Director, OU Israel Center

This Shabbat we bless the month ahead of Chodesh Menachem Av. During these days of the months of Tamuz and Av, we are meant to focus our attention on both the absence of the Beit HaMikdash, the root cause of its destruction, the longing for its being rebuilt, and the work we must engage in to repair the world and bring that reconstruction to fruition.

There is a challenging passage in the Gemara in Masechet Taanit(29a), which describes the scene of Churban Bayit Rishon. תנו רבנן: משחרב הבית בראשונה, נתקבצו כיתות כיתות, של פרחי כהונה ומפתחות ההיכל בידן, ועלו לגג ההיכל, ואמרו לפניו: רבונו של עולם! הואיל ולא זכינו להיות גזברין נאמנים — יהיו מפתחות מסורות לך. וזרקום כלפי מעלה, ויצתה קעין פיסת יד וקיבלתן מהם. והם קפצו ונפלו לתוך האור.

The Sages taught: When the Temple was destroyed for the first time, many groups of young priests gathered together with the Temple keys in their hands. And they ascended to the roof of the Sanctuary and said before Hashem: Master of the Universe, since we did not merit to be faithful treasurers, and the Temple is being destroyed, let the Temple keys be handed to You. And they threw them upward, and the image of a hand emerged and received the keys from them. And the young priests jumped from the roof and fell into the fire of the burning Temple.

How are we to understand this difficult teaching? What does it mean that the young Kohanim held the keys to the Beit HaMikdash in their hands? What is the significance of the proverbial Hand of Hashem taking the keys back from them? Why does the passage end with the tragedy of these young Kohanim plunging into the flames below? Simply stated, how are we to unpack this Talmudic teaching to uncover the take home messages we are meant to glean from it?

Rabbi Moshe Wolfson, shlita, wrote in addition to the tragedies that have befallen Am Yisrael during these three weeks, that there are actually two great events which are said to occur during these days. Rav Wolfson suggests that it is on the 17th of Tamuz, when Boaz marries Rut, hence setting into motion the birth of David Hamelech, from whom Mashiach will be descended. So too, our tradition teaches us that Mashiach will be born on Tisha B'Av. Rav Wolfson, suggests therefore, that these three weeks are in their essence days of great joy and anticipation. However those great lights of hope, have been covered over and clouded by the darkness and tragedies which have subsequently come to be associated with these days. The work of these three weeks is to strive to uncover those great lights.

With Rav Wolfson's insight, perhaps we can now revisit and begin to understand our troubling talmudic passage as well. The young Kohanim represent the future of Am Yisrael. Indeed the keys to our future, the keys to a better and brighter tomorrow, remain in our hands. The work of these three weeks is the work of repairing the world, one kind deed, one friendship, one mitzvah, one tefila at a time. The keys to revealing those great lights are indeed in our hands and within our reach.

Yehi Ratzon, may we be blessed to use these days wisely, to do much good, to reveal those great lights, and bring about that brighter tomorrow. ■
